EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN]

Minnesota Republican Convention

ST PAUL, Minn July 28—Following is the platform adopted by the Republican State Convention: The Republicans of Minnesota reaffirm the cardinal principles of their party which have become the established policy of both State and national governments the unity and indissolubility of the union; the equal rights and just protection to all men before the law that on the prominent questions of the day we favor a policy of finance which shall steadily keep in view a return to specie payments; a tariff for revenue yet so adjusted as to be least burdensome and most favorable to the interest of home industry and labor; demand that all railroad and other corporations be held in fair and just subjection to the law making power constitutionally exercised; that we cordially indorse the progressive and liberal policy of the Republican party well defined and clearly announced purpose to foster the agricultural, industrial and commercial interests of the country by a judicious system of internal improvements having for their object the enlargement of facilities and reduction in cost of transportation for internal commerce; that to the Republican party just belongs the honor and credit of securing for the nation the recognition by foreign governments of the full and complete rights of citizenship in repeal of the monarchical dogma that the subject can not absolve himself from allegiance to his sovereign by naturalization under our laws; we heartily commend the honesty and efficiency of the present administration and point with satisfaction to the fact that it has reduced the aggregate of taxes 20 per cent in the last two years; that the example of Washington in refusing to be a candidate for the third presidential term and the declaration by President Grant of that principle is one we sacredly cherish and we should regard a departure from it as a dangerous innovation; that we approve of the present Republican national administration, and especially the earnest efforts to collect revenue, to prevent and punish fraud, to expose past violations of law and guard against their recurrence in the future; that we endorse the policy of adjusting difficulties between this and foreign nations by arbitration instead of war and as the friends of justice peace and humanity we shall hail the day when this policy is adopted throughout the world.

The following nominations were made by the Republican State convention: Governor J S Pillsbury, Lieut. Gov. J B Wakefield; Secretary of State, J S Irgens; Auditor O P Whitcomb; Treasurer W Pfaender; Attorney General George P Wilson.

New York Delegates to the Hard-money Convention.

NEW YORK, July 28—The following delegates were to-night appointed to attend the convention at Cincinnati, on the ..th of October to confer on measures to restore hard money: F K Thurber, Lloyd Aspinwall, S D Babcock, A L Earle, Geo W Lane, Fred A. Conklin, Geo W Systare, Parker Early, D H Loudon, C M Fry, Algernon S Sullivan, A A Low, Wm H. Filey, C A Merton, T W Evans, Percy Pyne, John T Henry, Wm E. Kirk, and Charles A. Dana, Franklin Edson, Myer H Levy, Clarkson N Potter, John T Agnew, C Delafield, and J W. Seligman.

A Shaky Publishing House

NEW YORK, July 28—The Brooklyn Argus says J.B. Ford & Co have asked advice and assistance of the creditors of their publishing house who are requested to meet to-morrow morning. The circular issued says this circumstance is not to be confounded with the affairs of the Christian Union Co which is a separate organization and good for all amounts. It is stated that Henry W Sage and H H. Cleveland, together with Mr Beecher in the Christian Union, are in no way connected with the publication of books. Mr Ford's partners are Samuel Wilkeson, John K. Howard and Edward L Ford.

J. B. Ford & Co.'s Case.

J. B. Ford & Co, in a card state that the depression in their book business has continued since the panic of 1873, and was aggravated by a fire in their bindery in February last, which paralyzed spring sales. They claim that their assets, at par cost, exceed their liabilities by over $80 000. The Christian Union, they say, is sustained by ample capital, its condition is sound and its prospects bright. The statement that it has lost ground since the trial is not true. Ford & Co's connection with it is simply that they have been employed as publishers of the paper. They have resigned that charge and after the 15th of August, it will be transferred by them to their successors.

At a meeting of the creditors of J B Ford & Co., Beltram stated the assets to be $88 000 in excess of liabilities.

Duncan, Sherman & Co's Losses.

NEW YORK, July 29—The Trenton Banking Co. of Trenton N J which lost $16 000 by Jay Cooke's failure, loses $100 000 by the suspension of Duncan Sherman & Co. A responsible officer of one of the largest banks of this city yesterday stated that Duncan Sherman & Co had nearly $700 000 tied up in securities of the M. and O R R Co of which Duncan was president and a small amount in the Selma and Gulf road. It is understood also in one of their statements Duncan Sherman & Co have been obliged to take $300 000 to Alabama State bonds, which are now quoted at thirty five cents on the dollar.

Very Suspicious Transactions

NEW YORK, July 29.—It appears transfers of real estate have been made at the register's office this week by Wm. Butler Duncan and others members of the firm, to the amount of a million and a quarter of dollars. Deeds just recorded date from 1868 to 1873. The name of grantee is freshly inserted in a different handwriting from the body of the deed.

Wm. B. Duncan Explains.

NEW YORK, July 29—Wm B Duncan of Duncan, Sherman & Co explains the transfer of real estate as follows: The bank building he said was sold to his father Alex. Duncan June 6 1868 for $300 000, subject to a mortgage of $200 000. On May 5, 1867 the property on Pine street was sold to Alex. Duncan for $58,821 subject to a mortgage of $2,000. The consideration for both of these transfers was paid at the time in cash. Other deeds Duncan said, including the deed of the Fourteenth street property now put on record were long ago lodged with the agent of Alexander Duncan, to secure certain credit granted to Duncan Sherman & Co by parties in London under the guarantee of Alex. Duncan for which the firm placed deeds with the agent to be recorded at the pleasure of Alexander Duncan. In case the credit was not used the agent was to return the deeds to Duncan Sherman & Co. Under this credit certain amounts have been drawn and the agent therefore recorded the security in accordance with Alexander Duncan's instructions. Mr Duncan said that other deeds made by members of the firm in previous years—a list of which has been published—cover old transactions in real estate, which have no connection whatever with the present failure.

The Commercial Warehouse Failure.

In the suit of James D Fowler and Geo W Fowler vs Commercial Warehouse Company Judge Westbrook to-day appointed Jno Baird receiver of the company. Baird gives a bond in $250,000 sureties, Jno. J Jove & Co and C H Delamater. The company are enjoined from disposing of any of their property.

Failure in Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, July 28.—The Tobacco Exchange Banking Co of this city closed doors yesterday. The institution has been regarded as precarious sometime, and the present suspension has no connection with the New York failures. As far as known no bank or person here is affected by Duncan & Co.'s failure.

Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON July 29—During the past three days no movement of importance in wool has transpired; supplies are coming forward quite freely from the West, and there is now a good stock on the market. Demand is almost exclusively for medium fleeces and these are the only grades for which prices are sustained with any degree of firmness. Fine fleeces rule dull and very little inquired for. Sales of combing and delaine fleece at 52@58½c as to quality; for washed 40@46½c for unwashed. Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces range from [illegible] for X and XX, up to 50 for medium and Wisconsin and Minnesota at 4 @48 per pound for X and medium. California spring is in moderate demand at [illegible] per pound and for super and X pulled the market is quiet at 40@50c per pound with small lots of choice Eastern and Malnesuper at an advance on the latter rate.

Doings of the Indian Commissioners.

LONG BRANCH, July 29—The afternoon session of the Indian commissioners reported the work of the standing committee for the last quarter and special rigid scrutiny of the work done by the purchasing committee; also the adoption of new methods for the prevention of frauds in the future delivery of supplies. Hereafter the board of Indian commissioners will watch all the receipts and deliveries of supplies of the principal agencies. This evening the committee waited on President Grant and made arrangements for a conference to-morrow at his cottage. Commissioner Smith and Secretary Delano attended.

A Committee of Honest Distillers Ask for Modifications in the Revenue Regulations

WASHINGTON July 29—A delegation composed of Messrs J A Goff of Cincinnati, Thomas of Louisville, Friedburg of Cincinnati, Francis of Peoria, Boyd and Moss of New York City representing a convention of distillers which recently assembled in Cincinnati to consider the best interests of honest dealers were at the treasury department to-day and had a long interview with the commissioner of internal revenue. All made suggestions with regard to the modification of regulations governing the trade in spirits and especially requested a more stringent rule as to the transfer of gangers and storekeepers arguing that these officers be transferred from one district to another as often as once in 30 days instead of 60 days. The committee also wanted a modification governing the transportation of old spirits showing the natural outs and the matter of seizures upon technical grounds was also discussed, the committee averring that very often seizures were made by government officials upon purely technical grounds and without proper examination thus putting distillers and rectifiers to much unnecessary annoyance. The commissioner will give the subject discussed careful attention.

Their [illegible] took a gentleman who was [illegible] Minister Washburne who supported the [illegible] It is [illegible] The [illegible] among Americans is very bitter.

Debate on the Shipping Bill.

LONDON July 28—In the house of commons this afternoon Sir Chas Adderly president of the board of trade introduced a bill to further empower the board of trade to prevent unseaworthy vessels from sailing. In presenting this measure he stated that Plimsoll's bill was not [illegible] because it was based on wrong principles. Here he was interrupted by cries of "No." Continuing, his remarks he said the bill was also objectionable because besides punishing owners it actually takes upon itself the conduct of the marine service. The act of [illegible] already empowers the government to detain unseaworthy ships. Since then [illegible] vessels had been stopped of which [illegible] were found to be unseaworthy. The present bill was intended to strengthen and make facilities more rapid and effective and empower a sufficient number of officers to effectually detain unseaworthy ships. It also allows a fourth part of the crew to demand a survey. Finally it was merely an earnest of fuller legislation to be had next session.

Sullivan thought the load line provision for stowing grain should be engrafted in the bill.

Roebuck denied that the bill would satisfy the country. He [illegible] continuing the [illegible] of Plimsoll's bill.

Various other members followed more or less censuring the bill which was likely to [illegible] the government in its difficulty. Finally the bill passed its first reading. Its second reading is fixed for Friday morning.

Americans abroad in Trouble

PARIS June 29—Many telegrams are received here from Americans in various parts of the continent holding letters of credit issued by Duncan Sherman & Co which have been dishonored making inquiry about them. It was rumored here to-day that English and American bankers would [illegible] Duncan Sherman & Co's letters and there was much disappointment when the report was found untrue.

Plimsoll Stoops after he has Conquered.

LONDON July 29—In the house of commons this afternoon Plimsoll made an apology for his conduct last Thursday, said he retracted the unparliamentary expressions with reluctance but not his statements of fact. He then submitted to the judgment of the house. Disraeli asked that the order moving for reprimand of Plimsoll be discharged and Newdegate objected but the order was discharged by an overwhelming majority amid vociferous cheering.

Weather and Crops in Europe.

NEW YORK July 28—The Daily Bulletin is publishing full details of the condition of the weather and crops in Europe. The main weight of the injury to wheat has fallen on France but even there the injury is not so decisive that it might not be remedied by subsequent fine weather. In Germany the weather is fair. The average in Hungary is unfavorable. Ireland has suffered from too much wet. Paris papers give the following account of the weather and crops: Harvest operations will now be delayed and the yield be materially less than last year. The quality of the wheat has already given rise to general complaints. Rust has made its appearance almost all through the country in the West. Central departments complain that the sprouting, which is plainly manifest in the south threatens extension into the central and western provinces. The weather has been most deplorable. A copious and continual downpour of rain has prevented the commencement of harvest which works great uneasiness among farmers. The weather coupled with an active demand from the south of France has led to an advance in wheat in France of 5 centimes per cental or from 35 to 45 per quarter. There is an equal rise in value of flour. The wheat crop has yet suffered but little from rain. If fine weather comes soon the present anxiety will speedily be dispelled.

How Labor Troubles are Treated in Switzerland

BERNE, July 29—Twenty two hundred workmen employed on St Gothard tunnel struck to-day and gathered at the northern entrance of the tunnel and blocked it. The Swiss government sent a body of troops to the spot, who dispersed the rioters killing two and wounding seven.

Indemnities Due from the United States to French Citizens.

PARIS July 29—In the Assembly to-day M Raoul Duval asked the government why the United States had not paid to French citizens the indemnity due them for losses sustained during the civil war while the claims of other foreigners have been settled.

The Duc de Cazes in reply said the indemnity due to other foreigners was likewise unpaid. President Grant in his last message to Congress recommended it to take action in this matter. Congress however, had not moved yet. In conclusion the Duc said he had full confidence in the good faith of the American government.

Alfonsists follow up their Successes.

MADRID July 29—An official dispatch has been received at the ministry of war announcing that a body of Carlists, in council is concentrated in Catalonia. General Martinez Campo has taken the town of Leo Dewget by assault. The citadel still holds out but must yield to the heavy artillery of the Alfonsist troops.

The Crops in Canada

TORONTO Ont July 28—The Globe has fifteen columns of special reports about crops from different places in Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Prince Edward's Island and Nova Scotia. The following is a summary: Fall wheat although below the average will be a larger crop than at one time expected. Spring wheat is above average. Oats, barley and peas are heavier than for many years in proportion to area covered. Corn is greatly improved and will turn out better than expected. Hay—average crop. Small fruits abundant. Apples less plentiful. In other fruits there will probably be a deficiency.

Trouble among the Hunters

OTTAWA July 29—The Winnipeg correspondent of the Free Press telegraphs as follows: Reliable dispatches received from the West state that the scene of the reported trouble is at St. Laurent, 40 miles east of Carleton. The plain hunters have seized and confiscated the property of the hunters who refuse to comply with their regulations and under the leadership of one Drummond they have set up a government of their own, declaring however their loyalty to the queen. It is understood here that Hon Mr Laird will be first lieutenant-governor of the new province in the Northwest.

SINGULAR ACCIDENT

SEVEN HUNDRED SHEEP LITERALLY FRIGHTENED TO DEATH

[From the Alameda Independent]

Last week we mentioned the loss of a large number of sheep in the hills back of Mission San Jose belonging to Mr Ashurst but were misinformed as to the mode of their death. It was not by rushing down a precipice, but in another and most singular way that the misfortune occurred. The sheep, to the number of about 2 500 were quietly feeding on a hill about three miles east of Mission San Jose on Sunday afternoon July 4th when a man who had been a short time working for the owners of the sheep suddenly uttered a loud yell which had the effect of frightening the sheep. They immediately commenced running down hill as fast as they could. At or near the bottom of the hill a large patch of poison oak was growing and they rushed pell mell into it. Here their legs got so entangled that they could not move. Meanwhile the others behind still came rushing down upon them until they were piled in layers six deep one upon the other. Of course the most of them were soon suffocated and died.

One of the owners came to the spot within ten minutes afterward and with the aid of a Spaniard succeeded in pulling out and rescuing about 50 head. But the number thus lost in this strange way was 700 in all. It is supposed that the yell given by the hired man was done for the purpose of starting the sheep off to camp.

The sheep were worth $2 50 to $3 per head. One of the brothers, the gentleman from whom we got our information is so disgusted with the result that he is determined to sell out.

During Monday night the barks Montana, [illegible] and Aurcola and the brig Perpetua arrived and anchored off Seattle.

Interesting Anniversary.

SAN FRANCISCO July 29—The Twenty fifth anniversary of the consecration of Archbishop Alemany and his transfer from Monterey to this diocese was celebrated this morning at the Cathedral with imposing ceremonies and a solemn pontifical mass by the archbishop assisted by Bishop Amat of Los Angeles and Bishop O'Connell of Marysville with over one hundred priests. An immense congregation witnessed the ceremonies and the Cathedral was crowded to its utmost capacity.

Return of the C P R R Excursion Party—It is Thought They will Purchase the Oregon Roads

SACRAMENTO July 29—The directors car of the C P R R came down from the end of the Oregon division this morning bringing down D D Colton and party on their return from a three weeks excursion, during which they travelled a distance of 2 000 miles having been all through the State of Oregon during that time. The object of the trip was to inspect the Oregon road previous to completion of negotiations pending for its purchase and it is thought the bargain will be closed at an early day.

THE TERRITORIES

A peddler named Fred Rin who had been dead beating the hotel and saloon proprietors of Silver City has gone to Boise to practice in the same line of business.

The editor of the Silver City Avalanche had a call from a number of personal ( ) friends on the night of the 23d who brought their ammunition along. They had to retire.

Says the Pacific Tribune: Mr Louis Sohns of Vancouver is coming to Puget Sound in a few days to get out a cargo of stave bolts for San Francisco. The bark Webfoot has been chartered for the purpose.

A table published in the Dispatch compiled from the custom house records gives the total number of vessels of all descriptions owned on Puget Sound as 95—28 steamers and 67 sailing vessels. They have an aggregate of 21 500 tons. Of the steamers eight belong to Seattle, which owns a larger number than any other port on the Sound. The capacity of the vessels ranges from 5 22 to 1188 tons.

ENGLISH BANKS AND LEGISLATION

The first London bankers were the Goldsmiths whom Charles II robbed so barefacedly. Almost as soon as the present constitution was fixed by the revolution of 1688, the Bank of England was started as a monopoly. No other joint stock bank was allowed to be formed in England and no bank joint stock or private was allowed to issue notes within sixty five miles of London. In this way the formation of large banks such as the Scottish banks with numerous branches was prevented and so the banks in large towns where money is always in demand were unable directly to obtain the deposits of the smaller towns where money is always plenty. Owing to this the class of money brokers of which Overend Gurney & Co was the type grew up toward the close of the last century. Their legitimate business was to obtain money from country bankers and capitalists and to give them in return the bills of town bankers. No doubt some of these restrictions were gradually abolished but the process itself was a slow one and as soon as the older restrictions were abolished new ones were created. In fact if one might use the illustration the old twist or bias in the system was not removed till a new one was created. Thus for example the first permission to establish joint stock banks compelled all banks to adopt the principle of unlimited liability although in older banks, the banks of England Ireland and Scotland the liability was limited. The capital of the banks were thus made small when compared with their liabilities as many parties would object to take shares in unlimited companies and of course when the shareholders were limited in number, the capital of the banks would also be limited. This restriction has now indeed been removed and banks with limited liability have been created but there is still a prejudice against them which, as will be shown in the sequel, it will require years to overcome. Then again this permission to found unlimited joint stock banks was by a curious fatality almost coincident in time with the withdrawal of the right to issue notes under £5. But, as a very considerable proportion of the business of new banks depends upon the power of issuing notes this prohibition was really a formidable check upon the formation of new banks. The legislature indeed seems to have had special difficulties in dealing with these small notes. They were prohibited in England between 1777 and 1797 and again from 1825 till the present time. They had indeed been withdrawn from circulation a year or two previous to 1825 and the panic of that year was by the testimony of many witnesses allayed by the discovery in the vaults of the Bank of England of a quantity of these £1 notes and their issue to the public. Under the act of 1844 the last great system of banking legislation aided also by the act of 1845 which prohibits any new bank from issuing notes, and prevents the existing English banks from issuing notes against gold—the banks all look to the Bank of England to furnish them with its notes which are a legal tender while the bank is prevented from doing so unless it holds gold against these notes. The banks in fact are all induced to depend upon the Bank of England and the bank cannot even use its credit to help them. It may receive their money and issue to them in return deposit receipts or post bills or place it to their credit in its books against which they can themselves issue checks but it is prohibited from giving them the one form of acknowledgment which they require for their customers—viz bank notes. An English banker thus is carefully shut off from all obligation to provide gold for his liabilities, looks to the bank to give him its notes and the bank if we may judge from its action for some time back is more than ever determined to lean upon the Government and to regard a suspension of the act of 1844 as a remedy for all financial evils.—M [illegible] Vaja [illegible]

WEALTHY BOHEMIANS.—The modern school girl must have queer ideas. In a conversation with a New York reporter at the hop at Vassar Tuesday evening one of them queried "Are you single?" An affirmative answer being given then she asked thoughtfully "Do editors ever get rich?" The pencil heaver again replied in the affirmative and instanced several leading journalists and then added "I leave for New York to-morrow and it will take me three days to pay my taxes and cut the coupons off my bonds." "Is it possible," replied the miss "and you so young, too."—Poughkeepsie Eagle.

Mountain Meadows Massacre.

A Dilatory Motion Fails

BEAVER July 29—In the Mountain Meadows Massacre case to-day, Spicer for the defense moved for a stay of all further proceedings on the ground that this is no legal term of the court, the government having fixed a term of court without due authority. The court overruled the motion.

The Defense Opened.

As Lee came into court to-day he shed tears. Spicer opened the case for the defense to the jury. He sketched the course of the Arkansas emigrants down the valley of Utah and said their butchery was unparalleled and fiendish. He wouldn't claim the Indians alone did the deed for white men were there with hearts as black as those of the savages. He would admit orders were issued to these white men such orders as could not be disobeyed and compelled the obedience of those who took part; would admit the Mormon church had bad men in it as is the case in all frontier countries any church get such men in it. He would claim the Mormon church was not alone to blame, but the men who did the deed acted as much from the desire of their own wicked hearts as from religious conviction. He would prove they acted under orders but would not claim, as Joshua did the orders came from the Lord for the destruction of the people of the city of Ai. He would claim no proof had been made that Lee killed any one, though present. He would show the emigrants in all Utah were treated kindly and furnished with supplies, but in this train they acted badly and created great trouble, so much so that the train divided and had two captains. He would claim that Utah at the time of the massacre was in war. The people had resolved to burn their homes flee to the mountains and do for Johnston's army more than the Muscovites did for Napoleon. So they agreed to store their supplies for subsistence in their retreats. He would show that Corn creek was the home of stalwart Indians. Kanosh their chief is yet living there. The emigrants had no difficulty until the Indians became enraged beyond control by the settlers. The massacre was only an Indian massacre though white men were in it just as there were at Deerfield and Wyoming. There was but one man raised a hand and voice in all the three days' siege at Mountain Meadows for the safety of the emigrants—one man who wept for them—one man who begged for reinforcements to save the emigrants, and raised his voice saying "Before God, I cannot do this deed." That was John D Lee. If Klingensmith a bishop with authority swears he dared not disobey, and fired on the emigrants to save his own life, what can be expected of the simple layman Lee who held no office at that time? The people of Utah believed they were executing the will of God in all they did from day to day as much as did those who destroyed Ai or Shalmon as described in the Bible. He would show there were but thirty men at the massacre, and hundreds of Indians who compelled them to take part but most of the men went to the Meadows honestly to help save the emigrants, while some went for a murderous purpose. Those who acted unwillingly did so because if they had not the Indians would have killed them, and swept off their houses and families and all the settlements in Utah Valley. History shows no position so terrible as that in which these men were placed. Lee alone stood up and said if any five men would go with him he would go into a corral with the emigrants and with them fight it out with the Indians.

In concluding Spicer said Lee even by his own neighbors was being made great in the affair though only a private citizen, not holding any office, in order to be offered up a sacrifice sufficiently large to appease offended justice. Spicer spoke over three hours and has not yet finished. Recess.

After recess Spicer finished his speech.

The first witness for the defense

Samuel Pollock,

Sworn—Ezra Curtis lieutenant of the militia, called him out from Cedar City to go to the Meadows. He was told they were going to save the emigrants and bury the dead. They took guns and spades. It was customary in those days to carry arms at all times, if going from home on account of the hostile feeling of Indians. Our party had no uniform. On the day of arrival lay in camp in sight of emigrants camp; saw no one but Indians, who were shooting from various points, they were mostly secreted in the brush. That night put out a guard of four for our safety from Indians. Next morning Lee arrived with more men, also more Indians. Two chiefs came with Lee who seemed friendly. They said they had been fighting emigrants. Lee addressed the Indians round camp in English; they understood him. The day of the massacre the whites left camp and went toward the emigrants; witness didn't go. About 25 whites in the party, with a flag of truce went out, and the emigrants' messenger met it; saw two wagons load up afterwards. Witness was not far off; saw emigrants come out, the women ahead; the men met and walked with the militia. Heard report of guns but was not then looking; it seemed to be one volley as if simultaneous. At that time I had to go four rods to see over a knoll; when I got there saw a cloud of smoke and Indians rushing in. Young, a sick man and witness remained in camp; a picket guard was on the hill side, a quarter of a mile off. The Indians seemed to rush upon the women and the head of the line of men. The soldiers were then at the rear of the line of the male emigrants and some alongside; none of the soldiers were hurt. The screams of the women and the yells of the Indians rent the air.

Wm. Young,

Sworn. The defense offered to prove that on the day before the massacre Lee besought Higbee for God's sake and his sake to send back to Cedar for reinforcements to protect the emigrants from the Indians. The court ruled out the offer. The defense offered to prove the declarations of Lee. The court ruled them out. They offered to reduce them to writing but the court would not allow them to be made in the hearing of the jury but ordered them in record.

Witness detailed the massacre the same as he did when on the stand for the prosecution and adhered to the statement that the Indians did not appear on the scene until after the volley of gunshots were fired; saw none of the Indians fire; saw them striking at the women with weapons. When witness saw the Indians they were coming on the emigrants on the same side on which the soldiers were so that a shot from the Indians toward the emigrants had first to pass the soldiers.

More Developments of the Massacre—A Rope Made of Women's Hair.

BEAVER July 29—Letters are arriving constantly throwing light on the massacre. Information is received to-night from Southern California of the whereabouts of a rope made of women's hair taken at the massacre also jewels from their ears and necks and the whereabouts of the men who took the hair and jewels.

The town is quieter to-day and better feeling prevails.

The foolhardy feat of Hugh Donahue of Springfield Mass who walked 1 100 miles in 1 100 consecutive hours will probably result fatally to him. He was in splendid health when he began his task but after the first week his physical powers began to be affected. Every week told against him and he would hardly be taken for the same man. His face is thin, his eyes sunken and he looks a total wreck. One peculiar feature is that he commenced the feat with hair perfectly black and it is now as gray as a badger. He walked 1 000 miles in 1 000 hours at Springfield, last summer but his last task took four days longer. He sometimes fell down insensible while on the course. He walked a mile every hour which on an average took him fifteen minutes. He then slept for forty minutes, when he was awakened to resume his task.

The corner stone of the new bank in Seattle was laid on the 24th.

Democratic State Convention.

The Unterrified in Council

SALEM July 29, 1875.

Owing to the fact that there is such a multiplicity of candidates and only one position open to all of them there is the full average amount of button holing and wire pulling going on on the street corners of the capital city this morning nearly all the delegates having arrived here yesterday except a few who came from Albany and one or two from Portland by the trains this morning. It is impossible to form any well founded judgment as to what the action of this convention will be. They will disappoint a great many more men than will be made happy by their decisions. This morning at least a dozen leaders are in the field each one of whom thinks he stands a chance for the nomination but ere the earth turns round again all but one (and who that is only the Democratic gods know) will see how uncertain is the average Democratic delegate. Among the most prominent candidates now are Lane Whiteaker, Slater and Hayden, though the names of those who have less hope is legion. The attendance of delegates is quite large, and in the division of things Mr Nesmith may be constrained to accept the nomination though it now seems to be the general impression that he will not run.

MEETING OF THE CONVENTION

At 11 A M the delegates, accompanied by quite a crowd wended their way to Reed's Opera House headed by the Salem brass band and the hall was soon pretty well filled by members of the convention and many others who came to see the starting of the mill which is to grind out a candidate. The convention was called to order by Gen M V Brown of Albany, he being proxy for Hon Henry Klippell, who is chairman of the Democratic state central committee.

Geo L Curry of Multnomah, and John Myers of Clackamas county, were placed in nomination for temporary chairman, and Gov Curry who makes a first-rate presiding officer was elected and took his seat, after thanking the convention for the honor, etc.

Mr Ramsey, of Yamhill, was chosen temporary secretary of the convention.

Mr Fitch of Lane moved that a committee of three be appointed on credentials.

Mr Trevitt moved to amend by adding two and the motion, as finally carried, made the committee to consist of five members one from each judicial district in the State.

Mr Myers of Polk, nominated J H Turner of Umatilla, for assistant secretary, pro tem when

Mr Bradshaw arose and said there was a contest as to who were the delegates from Umatilla which raised quite a spirited discussion but Mr Turner declined, and from the names of several persons presented, the convention elected Ira Crossen, of Wasco, assistant secretary pro tem.

The temporary chairman then appointed the committee on credentials, as follows Fitch, of Lane; Fondray of Jackson; Burch, of Polk; Norris, of Multnomah, and Trevitt, of Wasco.

Some members wanted a committee on order of business appointed, but the convention thought it had done about all that would be done until it was settled who are members, and a recess was taken until 1 P M.

Polk county is here in full force, and the two candidates from that county have many strong friends. Nesmith does not really appear to want the nomination, and were the Democratic expression "your candidate I cannot be," unalterable, we would not expect his nomination, but still refusing he may consent.

[The mail closes.]

Afternoon Session.

The convention reassembled at 1 P M and adjourned until 3 P M, the committee on credentials not being ready to report. At 3 P M the convention reassembled and the committee on credentials reported.

The committee only had trouble with the delegation from one county—Umatilla. Two sets of delegates claimed seats from that county and the committee agreed for each man to cast half a vote.

When the report was presented to the convention Myers of Clackamas moved to amend by excluding J H Turner and B B Bishop from seats as delegates from Umatilla county. There was a warm discussion between Nye of Umatilla and Turner, in which Nye challenged the Democracy of Turner and said he (Turner) had voted for the Independents straight. Turner vindicated his standing in the party by reciting the fact that he had fought for four years in the Confederate army. Myers motion was lost.

The chair, on motion appointed a committee on order of business and a committee of one from each county represented was chosen to prepare a platform.

Curry Josephine Tillamook and Washington counties are not represented. L B Isom holds the proxies from Baker and Union counties. Grant held no county convention, but the county committee sent delegates, who were allotted.

On motion, the temporary officers were made the permanent officers of the convention.

On motion a committee of five was appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of the late G A LaDow.

The convention adjourned till 7:30 P M.

Evening Session.

The convention met at 7 30 P M.

The committee on platform asked for further time.

The committee on resolutions in memory of Hon G A LaDow reported, and the report was adopted.

The committee on order of business reported 1 adoption of platform 2 nomination of candidate for member of 44th congress. Report adopted.

Convention took a recess until 8 30 P M.

THE PLATFORM

The committee on platform reported at 9 o'clock. The resolutions are fifteen in number which were adopted.

They resolve in favor of unfaltering devotion to the principles put in practice by the fathers of our country. State rights payment of the public debt return to specie payment regulation of freights and fares, locks at the Cascades, Willamette and Salt Lake roads removal of Indians from the Umatilla and Siletz reservations. Opposed to aggressions protective tariff paper currency national banks Chinamen, Grant, everybody in office, fraud and corruption, demand reform in all departments and expresses sympathy with the patrons of husbandry.

A motion to request candidates to express their views on the platform, was voted down.

NOMINATION OF CANDIDATES

The nomination of a candidate being in order the following names were proposed: Lane of Douglas; Nesmith of Polk; Hayden of Polk; Page of Multnomah; Slater of Union; Sheil of Marion; Reed of Multnomah and Whitaker of Lane.

The names of Slater Page and Nesmith were withdrawn and the name of Mr Nesmith was again presented.

THE BALLOTING

After a short speech by Gov Whitaker the convention after deciding to vote viva voce, proceeded to vote with the following result: Lane 25 Whitaker 29 Hayden 14, Reed, 15 Nesmith 9 Sheil 2 Bradshaw 1 Blank, 1.

Second Ballot—Lane 30 Whitaker 30 Nesmith 8 Hayden, 12 Reed 12, Bradshaw 1 Blank 11.

Third Ballot—Same as the second.

Fourth Ballot—Whitaker 36 Lane 27 Reed 13 Hayden 10 Nesmith, 8 Blank, 14

Fifth Ballot—Lane 49 Whitaker 35 Nesmith 12 Reed 11 Hayden 9 Scattering 4.

Sixth Ballot—Lane 36 Whitaker 36 Reed, 16 Hayden 8, Blank, 14, Nesmith, 1. Nesmith's name was withdrawn.

Seventh Ballot—Lane 33 Whitaker 33 Reed 32 Hayden, 8 Ramsey, 1.

Adjourned till 8 A M Friday.

Speaking of fine crops, the nicest oat field in these parts is reported by A A Settlemier, of Linn county, estimated at 100 bushels an acre.

Mr. M Kercheim, proprietor of Harding's mill, Clackamas county, who was thrown from a horse about two weeks ago received injuries which caused his death on the 23d inst.

The Oregon City Woolen Manufacturing Company presented a few days ago thirty six fire shirts to the fire department of that city, as a testimonial for services rendered at the recent fire at the mills.

The only prisoner in the Marion county jail (confined for larceny) managed on Wednesday afternoon to dig through a two-foot wall into the main entrance hall and made his escape. He was recaptured near the mill race shortly after.

On the 27th inst Dr J W McAfee, of Salem, while out prospecting near Smith's ferry, met with an accident by falling over some rocks a distance of about fifteen feet, bruising his back and shoulders badly. At last accounts he was better.

The Houston Bros, on the 27th inst., commenced the work of cutting their flax. They have 150 acres near Albany, and it looks fine. The length is so great that they can spare a little off of one end and still have a long fibre left, so they use the reaper instead of pulling.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 30, 1875.

RATHER TOO THIN.

No intelligent person believes that Grant's Third Term letter was intended as an unqualified disavowal of any intention to be a candidate for re-election, and there are few who do not believe the Indianapolis Journal, Senator Morton's paper, was right, when it pronounced the letter "a politician's bid for the nomination." So far from commending the example of Washington, who declined to be a candidate after he had held the office two terms giving as a reason therefor that it would not be safe for the country to establish such a precedent, Grant took occasion to present some views to the contrary, and especially to deprecate that public sentiment which stood in the way of a man's seeking re-election to the Presidency as many times as the written constitution of the Republic would permit. Then when he came to the application of his doctrine to his own case, he said he did not desire the third term any more than he had desired the first and second. He wanted the first and second badly enough to accept them, and to say he wanted the third no worse was to say nothing that indicated in the slightest degree any unwillingness to enter the contest for the nomination if he should see the way open to success in the convention and in the popular election. Calling to mind the peculiar circumstances and phaseology of that letter, one finds it difficult to decide whether the following resolution, adopted by the Minnesota Republican Convention yesterday, is intended seriously, or as a piece of very broad sarcasm at the President's expense. Says the convention:

> That the example of Washington in refusing to be a candidate for a third Presidential term, and the affirmation by President Grant of that principle, is one we sacredly cherish and we should regard a departure from it as a dangerous innovation.

Of course this whole document taken together, admits of but one interpretation, so far as the third term question is concerned, and that is that the Republicans of Minnesota will none of it. But if Grant has imitated that sacredly cherished example of Washington and declined to be considered in the field for a third time, why say anything about it? Or at most, why go farther than merely to commend the unselfish patriotism of the President, who, as the head of the Republican party, might be entitled to that compliment? Wherefore proceed to declare that any attempt to run a man for the third term, would be a "dangerous innovation," if the only man in the world who is in a condition to be a possible candidate for a third term has magnanimously stepped out of the way? If Grant is not going to run for a third term, who is? And if nobody is, why need the convention have declared such a thing would be a "dangerous innovation?" It has never been done before, and unless there is some possibility of the third term innovation being attempted now, there is no occasion for resolutions condemning it.

The fact is, this last clause in the resolution of the Minnesota Republicans touching the third term matter, betrays the uncertainty they feel as to the purposes of Grant, and is an implied admission that, notwithstanding the fine talk about Grant's disavowal of all such intentions, his letter will bear the opposite construction, and will be regarded by the people at large as a bid for the office. To ward off the effect of that construction on the election, this strong declaration of opposition to the third term, which makes the praise of Grant in the preceding clause absurd and ridiculous, was inserted. If the clause about Grant's renunciation of the Presidency is not, as we half suspect, intended wholly in a Pickwickian sense, it is just about the most transparent sham that we have seen. If Minnesota people can be hoodwinked with a device as thin as that, they are good subjects for the politicians.

THE COST OF GOVERNMENT.

The other day we published the figures showing that the United States government, as at present conducted, is the most expensive, population considered, of all the great nations of the earth. Some persons have expressed surprise on reading those figures. We, too, were surprised when the facts first came under our observation. But they are facts, nevertheless, and no one who understands himself will offer to gainsay them. But there is another aspect of the case, which no doubt has been overlooked by most readers, and which places the United States government still more at disadvantage in the comparison. In the European monarchies, the general government takes every interest of society in hand. The government is single. There is one treasury from which all public charges are paid. Under our dual system of government, the States exercise the greater part of the functions of government. The expense of the State governments is therefore to be added to that of general government in order to make a true comparison of the cost of government here and abroad. These State governments cost as much, in the aggregate, as the general government. So the already enormous cost of our government, as represented in the figures from the United States treasury, is in reality no more than half the cost of government.

Is there any reason in the nature of our institutions, in the hearts and temper of our people, why our government should be so enormously expensive? Certainly there is not. We ought to have the cheapest government in the world. These enormous expenditures can be reduced, and they ought to be. The offices should cease to be sinecures, and the public buildings should cease to be hospitals for the care of overworked politicians. The army of officers and deputies and go-betweens should be reduced to a peace footing. Less than half the force now employed could do the work, and should do it. And the ten thousand contracts and commissions and other bungholes of the treasury should be stopped. This is possible, and the people should see to it that it is done.

Hon. Ben Simpson has been appointed by Secretary Delano to negotiate treaties with the Indians on the Alsea reservation.

MOODY AND SANKEY AT VERSAILLES.

A London dispatch says Moody and Sankey, the great American revivalists, are at Versailles. From what we have read of the style of these distinguished individuals, we venture to say their preaching, in the kind of French they will have at command, will not have the effect it has when delivered in the homely western English they speak. Perhaps the question is now to be presented, whether the fire and power of the revival style can be translated. We should imagine there would be no very great excitement created in the audience by having Mr. Moody pronounce one of his stirring sermons, a sentence at a time, and wait after each sentence for the French interpretation to be delivered to his audience. And when Mr. Sankey sings, with an unction that carries the multitude along with him, one of those tender and touching hymns which even in their original form will not bear criticism, what will be the effect of it by the time it is filtered through a Frenchman's brain, and let fly at the congregation, say in the Parisian opera style?

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

There is little to be said of the proceedings of the Democratic convention, as the main object, the nomination of a candidate for Congress, is still unaccomplished after several ballots. It appears to lie between ex-Governor Whiteaker and Lafayette Lane, Esq.; but there is something about the ballots that we outsiders cannot readily understand. There is a large number of persons voting blank, a number so constant as to suggest preconcert. We should not be very much surprised if the contest should end in the withdrawal of all the other candidates, and the nomination of ex-Senator Nesmith, who receives votes on every ballot, notwithstanding the withdrawal of his name before the first ballot was taken.

The platform, we should judge from the synopsis telegraphed, is intended rather as a device to catch votes than as a declaration of Democratic principles. However, it would be unjust to criticise it till we see the entire document.

The New York Herald of July 15th has two full pages and a column and a half more devoted to the college regatta at Saratoga. It may be that somebody will read it all.

The Washington Chronicle devotes nearly two columns to an argument to prove that Professor Marsh's charges of corruption against the Red Cloud Indian agent are false. If there is no ground for the charges, it is a little strange so much space should be required to make that fact appear.

WIND AND FLOOD.

PITTSBURG, Pa. July 13.—A violent wind and rain-storm passed over this city this afternoon, doing great damage. The cloud of dust raised was so dense that it was darker than night, and the water came down in torrents. At Zug's mills several furnace stacks were blown down, as were also several at Painter's, and a man was very seriously hurt. The high-school building was partially unroofed. The roof was blown from Robinson & Rea's foundry. Trees were uprooted and telegraph poles prostrated. Many dwellings were unroofed, and, altogether, the wind-storm was one of the severest ever known in this section, and did a great amount of damage in laying down crops in the surrounding country. At McKee's Rocks, on the Ohio river, just below Allegheny City, the storm assumed the proportions of a terrific tornado. Trees were uplifted by the roots and hurled in every direction. A man was at work picking stones with a team, when a falling tree struck his horse, injuring it so that it had to be shot. The man was lifted by the wind and carried over piles of stones and his flesh so badly bruised and lacerated that he cannot survive. One of his arms was literally beaten to a pulp, so that amputation was found necessary. A great many other minor casualties are reported, and each train brings in fresh tidings of the damage done to standing grain. The aggregate loss outside of human injury will not fall short of a half million.

SUPREME COURT.

SALEM, July 28, 1875.

Allen & Lewis, respondents, vs. J. W. Virtue et al., appellants.—Continued by stipulation until next term.

Nancy E. Goodpasture, respondent, vs. Geo. F. Campbell, appellant.—Argument by Dorris, for appellant, and cause submitted.

First National Bank of Portland, appellant, vs. A. R. Barley, impleaded with A. R. McConnell, respondent.—Argued and submitted.

City of Corvallis, appellant, vs. Jos. Hunt, respondent.—Argued and submitted.

Chief Justice Bonham announced that, according to a recent rule, the first case in the fifth district will be heard to-morrow.

The rules makes the order of hearing of causes to be as follows: Appeals from the first district, the second, the fifth, the third and last the fourth.

The cases mapped from the first and second districts have all been heard, and the first cause from the fifth will be heard next.

No opinions rendered to-day, and court adjourned from 3:30 P. M. to 9 A. M. to-morrow.

A STORY OF SENATOR WADE.—When ex-Senator Wade went to Utah three or four years ago he encountered, in crossing the desert at Salt Lake City, an old friend from Ohio who had gone West years before. "How do you like this country?" asked the bluff old commonor. "Very well," was the answer; "it would make a nice country if there was a little better society and plenty of water." "I should think so," retorted Mr. Wade: "a little better society and plenty of water would make Hell a Paradise." Colorado is ahead of Utah in both respects, for she has better society and more water, yet not enough of either.

A number of Oregon City folks are still out in the mountains prospecting.

INDEPENDENT STATE CONVENTION.

At a meeting of the Independent State Central Committee, held at Portland, July 16, 1875, it was resolved that a State Independent Convention be held at Salem on the 10th of August, 1875, at 2 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of nominating a Candidate for Member of Congress.

The basis of representation adopted is one delegate for every 100 votes cast at the last General Election for T. F. Campbell for Governor, one additional for a fraction of 50 or more, and one delegate at large for each county. Under this apportionment, the several counties are entitled to Delegates in the State Convention, as follows:

Baker	2	Lane	6
Benton	5	Linn	8
Coos	2	Marion	8
Curry	1	Multnomah	7
Columbia	1	Polk	6
Clatsop	1	Tillamook	1
Clackamas	5	Umatilla	5
Douglas	8	Union	2
Grant	3	Wasco	5
Jackson	2	Washington	6
Josephine	1	Yamhill	5
Lake	1

The Committee recommend that the people of the several counties meet either in Primaries or Mass Meetings, as they may deem best, on the 31st day of July, to select Delegates to the State Convention.

JOS. BUCHTEL, Chairman.

J. I. THOMPSON, Secretary.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 30, 1875.

CITY.

AN ASSASSIN FOILED.—From the evening contemporary we learn that Capt. Fisher, of the steamer Shoo-fly, came near being assassinated by an unknown person at Astoria night before last. The captain was passing down town on his way to the steamer, when a man stepped out from the shadow of a building near by, leveled a pistol at him, and pressed the trigger. Fortunately, the pistol missed fire, and only the cap went off. The would-be assassin immediately took to his heels, and as the captain's amazement was so great for the moment as to render him incapable of action, he did not start in pursuit until it was too late to overtake the culprit who had sought his life in so cowardly a manner. Since the occurrence a man has been arrested on suspicion of having committed the assault, and is to have a legal examination, but we have been unable to learn additional particulars, more than that there was considerable excitement at Astoria over the occurrence when our informant left.

BODY OF JOHN MCQUADE.—Mention was made a few days ago of the recovery of the lad John McQuade, who was drowned off the steamer Carrie on the 18th of July, at a point on the Lower Columbia near Hume's fishery. It was uncertain that the body recovered was that of young McQuade, so the mother of the deceased went down for the purpose of identifying the remains. The body, when fished out of the water, was badly swollen and considerably decomposed, so it was placed in a coffin as soon as possible and buried. However, Mrs. Hall, the mother, had no difficulty in identifying the body by the clothes which were taken off before its interment. This morning Mr. Hall, the step-father of the unfortunate youth, will start down the river for the purpose of conveying the remains to this city. Next Sunday at 2 o'clock P. M. the funeral will take place from the Catholic church.

STEAMER SAILED.—Last night the steamer John L. Stephens sailed from this port for San Francisco, carrying the following passengers: Hon. J. H. Mitchell, R. L. Holman, E. G. Bidwell, Dr. J. R. Provost, F. W. Baker, John Montgomery, H. E. Allen, Miss Olive Plummer, Mrs. N. Michler, O. N. Denny, wife and daughter, Mrs. B. R. Biddle, Mrs. Moreland and infant, Miss C. Cargill, T. S. Carr and wife, I. Reiss, J. M. Taliaferro, Jos. A. Miller, Geo. LaRocque and 2 sons, Capt. White, J. Koshland, Col. Sumner, wife and 2 children, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Thompson and child, Mrs. Pilkington, Z. F. Moody, M. A. Moody, James E. Bryan, C. Barnard, S. King, J. Durkheimer, Miss Hattie Bacon, Mrs. Geo. D. Durbrow, Miss A. J. Parker, Mrs. Josephine Arpine, Capt. W. W. Martin and wife, Mrs. Clark, A. Buice, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s messenger and 3 in the steerage.

ALMOST A COLLISION.—The Star says: "Wednesday afternoon the boats Dixie Thompson and Welcome, George Ainsworth, captain, came near colliding. Both boats were coming up on the west side of the river, when, just as they got almost abreast—the Welcome a little ahead—she tried to cross the bow of the Dixie so as to make a landing on the eastern shore, instead of slowing up until the Dixie passed her. The speed of the Dixie was slackened; still the boats came within about three feet of each other, and had they collided a dreadful result would have followed, as both boats were well loaded with passengers. Much praise should be accorded to the captain of the Dixie for his promptness of action at so eventful a time."

[illegible] CLOSER.—We learn that a very vicious and dangerous bull is kept on a farm near the poor house on the canyon road, which has pursued persons on several occasions. Only a few days ago the vicious animal attacked a man who, to escape being impaled on the horns of the infuriated taurus, took shelter amidst the branches of a prostrate tree. Taurus was not to be baffled so easily, so he stood sentinel and kept the frightened person in a very uncomfortable position for several hours. At length the animal walked sullenly away, much to the satisfaction of the prisoner. The owner of the vicious animal should keep it within bounds, before some person is seriously injured or killed.

TAKEN TO LAFAYETTE.—Mr. B. W. Dunn, accompanied by the deputy sheriff of Yamhill county, arrived here yesterday on the train, for the purpose of escorting Thomas Brown, the thief spoken of in yesterday's issue, to Lafayette. Mr. Dunn recognized Brown at a glance, and declared him to be one and the same person who had plundered his house on Monday night. A pair of steel bracelets were placed about the wrists of the prisoner, and in company with the sheriff and Mr. Dunn, he went up on the train yesterday afternoon. Brown's guilt seems conclusive, and a preliminary examination will no doubt result in his being held to await the action of the grand jury.

CHINESE PERSECUTIONS.—Under this caption the Advocate says: "Dr. Lon Gong is a Christian convert from our Methodist missions in China. He has attended the Chinese school of St. Stephen's chapel in this city, for about one year. On the 21st of June he was baptized by Bishop Morris. Since then he has been the subject of persecution by some of his native people of this city. He was a partner of Wo Ding Chung & Co., corner of Second and Alder streets. This firm, we learn, ejected Dr. Gong and refused to give him back the funds which he put in the establishment. The only reason assigned for this strange procedure is the fact that he has professed the Christian religion."

NOT ARRIVED.—The Victoria Standard, of the 28th, says: "The public are getting a little uneasy respecting the non-appearance of the Vasco de Gama, which was four days out yesterday afternoon. It was fully expected that she would have made the trip in from two and a-half to three days. Various rumors are current as to the cause of her detention. The probability is that either a heavy fog or getting short of coal is the reason of the long trip. Capt. Rice, her commander, has made but one run to this port and the last was when he had command of a sailing vessel."

HALF-FARE RATES.—Arrangements, we understand, have been made by which all the members and delegates in attending the coming session of the Methodist conference will be charged only half-fare in passing to and fro over the several railway and steamboat lines. Also favors have been secured north of Portland. From this place south, both on the O. & C. and O. C. railroads, the members and delegates will pay full fare in going to conference, but will be returned free by having a certificate from conference attesting their membership.

LINE DOWN.—For several days past the line beyond Tacoma has been prostrated by the heavy fires which have been raging in the timber. A number of men have been engaged in putting up the wire, but it was found impossible to keep the line in working order. As rapidly as it could be raised in one place, the fire destroyed the poles and prostrated it in another. Until the fire shall have measurably subdued its ravages, efforts to keep the line in working condition have been abandoned.

A DESERTER CAPTURED.—A deserter named McGinty, who effected an escape from Walla Walla several years ago, was captured recently and sentenced, by court martial, to five years' confinement. On Wednesday Lieutenant Brandt and a sergeant took McGinty down the river to Fort Canby, and delivered him to the proper authorities. This is the second or third time McGinty has deserted and been recaptured.

TAKES THE PLACE.—Soon after arriving from Astoria yesterday the Emma Hayward went down to the bone-yard, where she will be tied up for the present. All needed repairs having been made to the handsome and rapid steamer Bonita she will take the Hayward's place on the Portland-Astoria line.

GRAND BALL.—We acknowledge the receipt of complimentary tickets to attend the grand ball, which will be given at the skating rink next Tuesday evening, on the occasion of the celebration of the 22d anniversary of the organization of Willamette Engine Co. No. 1.

ON THE SOUND.—The following Portlanders were registered at the Seattle hotels on the 24th, 26th and 27th: Rev. G. H. Atkinson, Mrs. Gardiner and family, F. Rafferty, E. M. Mannis, W. S. Sharpweek, James Hurley.

BRIEF NOTES.

Excursion next week to Astoria.

Cool, windy and cloudy yesterday.

Cool enough for blankets these nights.

County court will convene next Monday.

Less ice and ice cream consumed now than last week.

Republican primaries will be held to-morrow evening.

Fashionable wedding at Trinity church yesterday afternoon.

Grand matinee at New Market theater to-morrow afternoon.

Rev. E. P. Hammond and wife went to Seattle on Wednesday.

The "mean" temperature is what disgusts a man with every climate.

Off for San Francisco last evening at seven o'clock—the John L. Stephens.

Rev. T. L. Eliot is now rusticating at Cooke's fishery on the Lower Columbia.

Prof. Anderson returned a few days since from a brief trip to San Francisco.

Mercury has condescended to come down from its lofty perch these cool days.

All the fisheries will shortly suspend operations, the run of salmon having ceased.

Mr. Crouch was out repairing the line yesterday between this place and Vancouver.

Prof. S. W. King, of the public school, will return from a rusticating tour in a few days.

Hand in your statement to the assessor. Saturday is the last day they will be received.

No man can become thoroughly acquainted with his family history without running for office.

When will the postoffice move to its new quarters, is one of the unanswerable conundrums.

Geo. B. Waldron, the well-known actor, is now "leading man" at McVicker's Theater, Chicago.

A large number of Chinamen were brought up yesterday on the Willamette Chief from the fisheries.

The farmers are having fine weather in Eastern Oregon, which they are industriously improving.

Only 48 cases disposed of in police court thus far the present month—a remarkably light calendar.

If the ladies take another reef in their dresses they will appear to wear a sort of one-legged trouser!

Rev. L. T. Woodward, presiding elder of Puget Sound district, has been spending a few days in this city.

Prof. R. Yost, a well-known musician, who has resided for years in Portland, is now a resident of Seattle.

The Willamette Chief slightly damaged her bow while making a landing a few days ago down the Columbia.

Mr. Davis, the street commissioner, is busily engaged in serving notices on property-holders to improve sidewalks.

The pull-back style of feminine dress has developed an astonishing masculine interest in anatomical studies.

The thought that vacation will soon be over, does not tend to make the average school boy's heart rejoice.

Rev. R. Bentley, pastor of the Taylor-street M. E. church is now at Oysterville with his family. He will return next week.

Thirty-seven persons united with the Taylor-street M. E. church on Sabbath morning last—most of them Sabbath school children.

Two emigrant families arrived here yesterday, having crossed the Cascade mountains. They came somewhere from Eastern Oregon.

Mr. W. G. Gilbert, formerly of this city, is now employed as a draughtsman in the office of the Central Pacific Railroad Co. at San Francisco.

Rev. T. F. Royal and family returned from the Alsea country on Monday last. They speak in high terms of the pleasure and profit of their trip.

The three ocean steamers which run to this port—John L. Stephens, California and Gussie Telfair—were all lying side by side yesterday at the O. S. S. Co's dock.

Mrs. Carter, mother of C. M. Carter, of this city, returned on Saturday last from a protracted trip to Whidby's Island, W. T. The health of Mrs. Carter seems greatly improved.

Bishop Peck will return to this city early next week. On Wednesday evening, August 4th, he will preach in East Portland and on Thursday evening, August 5th, at Lee chapel.

Quite recently a number of persons have been drowned from carelessness and want of due precaution. People, it seems, have still to learn the important fact that water will drown.

It is the sagacious remark of a keen observer that you can generally tell a newly married couple at the dinner table, by the indignation of the groom when a fly alights on the bride's butter.

When a boy falls and peels the skin off his nose, the first thing he does is to get up and yell. When a girl tumbles and hurts herself badly, the first thing she does is to get up and look at her dress.

The attention of the street commissioner is directed to the condition of the sidewalk at the corner of West Park and Main streets. A little care may save the city a round sum of money in damages.

Transfusion of blood is a humbug in some cases. We read of a man out West who had a pint of bull dog's blood conducted into his veins, and then tried to lick his wife. She laid him up for a week.

A few days ago a little son of Mr. A. H. Johnson, while playing with companions, was thrown to the ground in such a manner as to cause the breaking of his collar bone. Dr. Ghiselen was called to attend the little patient.

The remains of the late Major and Paymaster John Walker will be buried at Vancouver on Monday next, with military honors. The remains will only be interred temporarily—until the friends of deceased can be heard from.

CORRESPONDENCE.

ST. CHARLES HOTEL,
PORTLAND, July 27, 1875.

To the President, Officers and members of the I. O. B. B. No. 65—GENTLEMEN: Wishing to tender your benevolent order a complimentary benefit in order to facilitate the good object of your lodge, we should be pleased to have you appoint some evening on which occasion the "Alleghanians" will be pleased to appear.

Yours truly,
D. G. WALDRON,
for the Alleghanians.

PORTLAND, July 28, 1875.

Mr. D. G. Waldron and Members of the Alleghanians—LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: In thanking you for your kindly letter of the 27th, I express the feelings of the entire lodge for your generous offer, which we thankfully accept. We beg leave to designate (this) Friday evening, July 30th, as a fitting time for the occasion, and the New Market Theater as the place. We have no doubt our many friends will liberally respond to your proffered benefit.

Gratefully yours,
I. SINSHEIMER,
I. FLEISHNER,
W. WOLF,
Committee.

THE TURF.

A correspondent writing from Seattle, says: "Who knows how much of the $5,000 is up on the long talked of race between Mr. Bingham's horse Foster and Mr. G. Coggin's horse Osceola. I, not being a very high carder, and not having $5,000 to bet, and not much in favor of newspaper races, will meet the above named gentlemen at the Oregon State fair, or Yamhill county fair, if a purse of $700 is hung up, free for all stallions, the race to be three best in five, mile heats, with an additional stake of $250, second horse saving stakes."

UNION PRAISE MEETING.—Union prayer and praise meeting at the Presbyterian church, corner of Third and Washington streets, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, conducted by Gen. O. O. Howard, commencing at 15 minutes to 8 o'clock. All are invited.

Genuine imported Vichy water and the delicious creme Polar soda water can only be had at Pfunder's German pharmacy, New Theatre block.

A PECULIAR MAN.

THE MAN WHO DIDN'T DRAW INFERENCES IN AN ICE-CREAM SALOON.

He slipped into an ice-cream saloon very softly and when the girl asked him what he wanted he replied:

"Corn beef, fried potatoes, pickles and mince pie."

"This is not a restaurant; this is an ice-cream parlor," she said.

"Then why did you ask me what I wanted for? Why didn't you bring on your ice-cream?"

She went after it and as she returned he continued:

"You see, my dear girl, you must infer—you must reason. It isn't likely that I would come into an ice-cream parlor to buy a grindstone, is it? You didn't think I came in here to ask if you had any baled hay, did you?"

She looked at him in great surprise, and he went on:

"If I owned a hardware store, and you came in, I would infer that you came in my line. I wouldn't step out and ask you if you wanted to buy a mule, would I?"

She went away highly indignant. An old lady was devouring a dish of cream at the next table, and the stranger, after watching her for a moment, called out:

"My dear woman, have you found any hairs or buttons in your dish?"

"Mercy! no!" she exclaimed, as she wheeled around and dropped her spoon.

"Well, I'm glad of it," he continued. "If you find any just let me know."

She looked at him for half a minute, picked up the spoon, laid it down again, and then rose up and left the room. She must have said something to the proprietor, for he came running in and exclaimed:

"Did you tell that woman that there were hairs and buttons in my ice-cream?"

"No, sir."

"You didn't?"

"No, sir, I did not; I merely requested her, in case she found any such ingredients, to inform me!"

"Well, sir, that was a mean trick."

"My dear sir," said the stranger, smiling softly, "did you expect me to ask the woman if she had found a crow-bar or a sledge-hammer in her cream! It is impossible, sir, for such articles to be hidden away in such small dishes?"

The proprietor went away growling, and as the stranger quietly supped away at his cream two young ladies came in, sat down near him and ordered cream and cakes. He waited until they had eaten a little, and then he remarked:

"Beg pardon, ladies, but do you observe anything peculiar in the taste of this cream?"

They tasted, smacked their lips, and were not certain.

"Does it taste to you as if a plug of tobacco had fallen into the freezer?" he asked.

"Ah! kah!" they exclaimed, dropping their spoons and trying to spit out what they had eaten. Both rushed out, and it wasn't long before the proprietor rushed in.

"See here, what in blazes are you talking about?" he demanded, "What do you mean by plug tobacco in the freezer?"

"My kind friend, I asked the ladies if this cream tasted of plug tobacco. I don't taste any such taste, and I don't believe you used a bit of tobacco in it!"

"Well, you don't want to talk that way around here!" continued the proprietor. "My ice cream is pure, and the man who says it isn't tells a bold lie!"

He went away again, and a woman with a long neck and a sad face sat down and said to the girl that she would take a small dish of lemon ice.

It was brought, and she had taken about two mouthsful when the stranger inquired:

"Excuse me, madame, but do you know how this cream was made——have you any idea that they grated turnip and chalk with the cream?" She didn't reply. She slowly rose up, wheeled around, and made for the door. The stranger followed after, and by great luck his coat-tails cleared the door an instant too soon to be struck by a five-pound box of figs hurled with great force by the indignant proprietor. As he reached the curbstone he halted, looked at the door of the parlor and soliloquized:

"There are times when people should infer, and there are times when they shouldn't. I suppose if I had asked that woman if she thought they hashed up a sawmill in the cream she'd have felt a circular-saw going down her throat."

AMUSEMENTS.

A fair audience was present last evening to witness the excellent performance given at New Market Theater by the Alleghanians. Several changes in the programme were noted and duly appreciated by the audience. Every performance was loudly applauded and several won hearty encores. We sincerely regret that such a limited measure of public patronage should be accorded the performances of the Alleghanians. The performances are without exception, of a high order, and each individual is an artiste in his or her respective line. It will probably be years before Portlanders may have an opportunity of witnessing a similar class of entertainment, which can boast of equal merits. Only three more performances are to be given here, before the departure of the company, and we shall be gratified to chronicle a decided increase in the attendance, for the time they shall remain.

This evening a benefit has been tendered the Independent Order of B'nai Brith, a benevolent society of a most worthy and deserving character. A programme of rare excellence will be offered, and a jammed auditorium may be confidently anticipated. The members of the Northwestern band have kindly consented to appear, and during the evening will discourse some excellent music.

A matinee performance will be given to-morrow afternoon for the express accommodation of ladies and children. Admission half price. To-morrow evening will positively be the last appearance of the Alleghanians in this city.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

F. M. Shaver to Maranda J. Whitcomb, a piece of land containing 20 acres, situated in section 25, T 1, N, R 1 W.—$291.

The hungry go to Fabre & Barnes', Central Market, for their lunches.

CHROMOS FOR ALL.—An extensive stock of chromos has been opened in the store adjoining the postoffice by Mr. E. W. Ryan. These chromos were selected personally during a recent visit in the east, and will be offered at low prices. Call and examine.

Marie Packard and Miss Durgin in new charming duets and songs to-night. The Alleghanians in a choice programme.

KOHN is making quite an attractive display in his new Store, corner of First and Morrison streets. The new goods have arrived and his customers, new and old, may find some really handsome styles for summer wear. In Furnishing Goods he can accommodate the most fastidious. He knows the wants of the people, and now none need complain about the scarcity of styles and the quality of the fabrics offered. The prices are regulated according to the times.

Do not miss the Alleghanians' concert to-night at the New Market Theater. A rich musical treat for every one.

For the Summer and Fall season some new and appropriate styles in clothing have been introduced. The large and varied stock at BECK & WALDMAN'S is worthy of inspection by all intending to buy something unusually new and attractive. Their late arrivals of Furnishing Goods are also very fine and must meet with great favor. This firm continue to offer special inducements in youths' clothing. In every respect their stock is complete.

Hear the musical glasses, the silver Swiss bells, the ladies' and gents' orchestral band, and the Alleghanians' quartettes to-night.

COLD LUNCHES.—The oyster season having closed, WALLER & SON, Oak street, between First and Second, will serve Rare Lunches to their patrons at all hours. The OXFORD SALAD DRESSING, their own preparation, is meeting with great favor. Try it.

LACES! LACES!

Having perfected arrangements with an acquaintance in London I am enabled to offer Laces at lower figures than they can be purchased elsewhere in the city. I have these goods in SHAWLS, HANDKERCHIEFS, SACKS, DRESS TRIMMINGS, and by the yard. The ladies are invited to call. Satisfaction guaranteed.

MRS. HIGGINS,
Eighth street, bet. Salmon and Main.

The AMERICAN EXCHANGE HOTEL is still run by Quimby, who has been here for the past ten years, and intends to continue. He has no connection whatever with the St. Charles Hotel. His old patrons may be sure of always meeting him at the American Exchange as of old.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

RELIGIOUS, LOCAL, PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

[From the Sentinel.]

The German colony who purchased farms in Washington county are about to erect a Catholic church on the Black farm, near Hillsboro.

By the steamer on Wednesday night, arrived Rev. Louis Gaudon, who has come to this archdiocese specially for the Indian missions in Eastern Oregon.

During the early part of the ensuing month a ladies' fair will be held at Astoria, for the purpose of liquidating a portion of the debt remaining on the church at that place, and Father Gibeny appeals for aid to the Catholics of Portland.

In our report of the medical staff of St. Vincent's Hospital last week we omitted to mention the fact that along with Drs. Kinney and Cardwell, as visiting and assistant physicians, the staff also comprises Dr. J. T. Ghiselin, surgeon, U. S. A., and Dr. H. E. Jones, U. S. A., who will act in all cases as consulting physicians, thus affording to each patient in St. Vincent's Hospital the best medical talent in the State.

The principal feasts for the month are those of St. Lawrence, martyr, which occurs on the 10th. This saint suffered death for the faith under the persecution of the Emperor Valerian, A. D. 258. On the 15th occurs the feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary, the nature of which is doubtless familiar to every reader of the Sentinel. On the Sunday following occurs the feast of St. Joachim, the father of the Blessed Virgin. On August 24th occurs the festival of St. Bartholomew, of Cana, in Galilee, a disciple of our Lord, who was martyred for the faith. On the 28th inst. occurs the feast of St. Augustine, the son of St. Monica, and one of the great lights of the Catholic Church.

[From the Advocate.]

Rev. Dong Gong, Chinese missionary among his native people in this city, has entered upon his second year of labors, with much promise of success. He has a night-school of thirty-five students, ten of them giving every evidence of conversion. Rev. Dong Gong holds religious meetings every Thursday evening, and also on Sabbath.

THE COURTS.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—DEADY, J.

THURSDAY, July 29, 1875.

United States vs. Henry E. Cutter; demurrer overruled; defendant arraigned and plead guilty; Wednesday next set for sentence.

TO-NIGHT, the Alleghanians, vocalists, Swiss bell-ringers, &c., will appear in a change of programme.

Mr. Benjamin will produce new airs upon his novel invention—the musical glasses or crystal chimes—every one should hear him.

Secure seats early to-day for the Alleghanians' concert to-night. Those who do not attend these concerts will miss a rare treat.

IMPORTANT.—Indorsed by the Medical profession. DR. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS cures Coughs, Colds, Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat and Chest. DR. TOWNSLEY'S TOOTHACHE ANODYNE cures in one MINUTE.

Neglect everything, or anything, except a cough or cold. A year's suffering, and too often death itself, may be the result of one day's inattention to troubles of the throat or lungs. Volumes would not contain the mass of testimony that could be given relating to the cures effected by WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

Don't Make War on the Stomach.

If you are bilious, dyspeptic and constipated, don't make war on the stomach by successively swallowing blue pills, strong purgatives and powerful astringents. Such a procedure damages digestion and weakens the bowels, leaving stomach, liver and intestines, after the immediate effect, in a condition of greater disorder than before. That complete relief which remedies of the above description signally fail to afford is obtained by using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. And for the best of reasons. Biliousness is the result of inactivity of the liver, dyspepsia of weakness of the digestive organs, and constipation is produced by the above causes operating together. The Bitters, being a powerful stomachic, overcome indigestion by stimulating the secretion of gastric juice, relieve biliousness by promoting greater activity of the liver and thus enable the bowels to act with renewed regularity.

AN OREGON PIONEER.

THE RECENT DEATH OF COLONEL JOE MEEK, ONE OF THE MOST NOTABLE "MOUNTAIN MEN" AMONGST THE EARLY HUNTERS AND TRAPPERS.

[Mrs. F. F. Victor in the Morning Call.]

There died at Hillsboro, Oregon, on the 20th of June, the best known and most remarkable of that class of pioneers known as "mountain men," from their association with the fur companies in the capacity of trappers. Joseph L. Meek, was a native of Virginia, a cousin, on his mother's side, of Knox Walker, private secretary and cousin to President Polk. Born on a plantation, and allowed to do about as he pleased, he spent his childhood in that physical freedom and happy sport that developed a magnificent physique, but added nothing of book knowledge to his native intelligence. His mother, whom he loved very much, died in his boyhood, and his father marrying again, young Joe became unhappy, and at the age of sixteen left home, and made his way first to a relative's house in Tennessee, and from there to St. Louis, then a frontier trading-post, from which the fur traders outfitted for their journeys across the plains to the Rocky Mountains. Here he entered into the service of Smith, Sublette & Jackson, then doing a profitable business in fur hunting, and accompanied their caravan to the summer rendezvous of trappers, on the headwaters of Green river, where he arrived in the summer of 1820, a lad of nineteen years, without friends, money, or education, to begin the battle of life almost as the savage begins it—single-handed against unsubdued nature.

The fur companies' service was full of perils and destitute of comforts, but it was one that when a man had entered it was not easy to turn back from. Such was the loss of life yearly in the mountains, that the companies were obliged to recruit from one-half to two-thirds of their forces annually. If, upon trial, a man was found unfit for the service from weakness or cowardice, he was sent back when the trading partner went to St. Louis for Indian goods and supplies. But not many ever went back. The style of men who engaged themselves for such a service were not likely to be often of the cowardly sort; for fur-hunting meant Indian fighting, as well as every other species of danger. The men that met together at the summer or winter rendezvous were of all degrees of culture and all shades of character, including one, the one they all possessed—courage. It was not always that love of adventure had driven these men to the solitudes of the mountains. Many of them had fled thither from disappointment of their hopes or affections, or from the disgrace of some imprudent action—when public sentiment was more stringent than it is nowadays.

Their time at the summer rendezvous, when the beaver were not fit for taking, was spent in such wild sports and revels as usually are resorted to by companies of men isolated from society, and with neither the restraint of law nor the stimulus of hope upon them. In winter it was a little different, for the deep mountain snows and fearful cold made it necessary to keep a good deal within tents and around camp-fires. Here the education and bookish habits of some of them came out and offered an example to the others. It was impossible, of course, for the trappers to carry about with them books. One animal to ride and one to "pack" the traps and provisions was all the transportation a mountain man was entitled to, and frequently the Indians robbed them of this. But it was the custom of the company, when traveling together, to carry the books of the firm in a strong box, well guarded in the van of the procession. Along with these were also carried the Bible, Shakespeare, Byron, and perhaps one or two more. When the winter encampment was made this excellent but limited library was in great demand, some one being elected to read for as many as could listen in one tent.

It was here, with such text books, that Meek's education began. During the eleven years he spent in the Rocky Mountains he became familiar with those few volumes, which are said to contain the wisdom of the world; and, often in later years, when failing sight and lessened vigor seemed to have impaired the freshness of his acquirements, he used to startle me into laughter by the unexpected application of the wit or wisdom of his favorite authors to some point in question. His memory was remarkable, retaining dates and events with great exactness; and he was very fond of recounting his adventures as a mountain man. Such, too, was the wit and bonhomie with which he related them that he never lacked an audience. Among all the men I have ever known, I cannot mention one who was his superior in grace and facility of expression when he wished to pay a compliment to a lady. It was with him a natural gift, and agreed well with his splendid figure and handsome face, the chief charm of which was in the large, dark, eloquent eyes, that more frequently spoke mirth or tenderness than anger or scorn.

That the life of such a man should be in any sense a failure is cause for deep regret. Yet "fate, fate," as he has often said to me, "took me to the mountains as a boy, forced upon me an Indian wife when I never expected to see a white woman again, and has always in one way and another surrounded and overcome me." He emigrated to Oregon with his wife and children when the beaver was hunted out of the mountains, in 1840, and was among the very first pioneers of that State. Here he took up a body of land afterward held as a donation claim under the law of Congress of 1848, and settled down to such farming as a mountain man was likely to perform. In the meantime he was active in the formation of a provisional government of Oregon, which was organized to resist the encroachments of the Hudson Bay Company, and was a representative in its legislature. With a thorough knowledge of Indian character, he was useful in quelling disturbances between the natives and the settlers; and when the Cayuse war broke out in the Walla Walla valley, with the murder of the Presbyterian missionary, Dr. Whitman, his wife and twelve or fourteen emigrants, he was selected by the legislature as a special messenger to Washington to ask for government aid. Starting in December, he, with one other man, made the journey from the Columbia to the Missouri, most of the way on foot, in the cold and snows of winter, and through an Indian country. It was the old mountain life over again, and he was fitted for it. Arrived at St. Joe, Missouri, his way from that point was comparatively easy, though he was without "scrip or purse," and clad in tattered buckskin garments. Everywhere that he went, until he reached the White House itself, his dashing, off-hand, yet earnest manner, carried him on with a tide of popularity. President Polk, whose wife and secretary were cousins of Meek, received him hospitably, and he soon became the lion of the hour. His arrival in Washington was opportune, inasmuch as the Oregon bill was being fought over between the adherents of slavery in the territories and the opponents of it. It was evident that something must be done, and that quickly, for waiting and suffering Oregon; and in August, 1848, on the last day of the session of congress, after a wearisome contest, the South gave in and Oregon was made a Territory. Of course arms and officers were then quickly ordered—Joe Lane being appointed governor, and Meek United States marshal. They arrived in the new Territory in the spring of 1849, just in time to organize the new government before Polk's term expired.

Meek was then in the prime of his manhood, and made a very imposing marshal. I have heard it said of him that his appearance on horseback was the finest possible, and he was very fond of sporting his half-military marshal costume. To the close of his life he continued to wear, when he came to town, his red silk scarf and U. S. buttons. Though the opportunity was offered, he made no money in his office. Less honest and better educated men, while pretending to do the clerkly part of his duties, robbed and plunged him in debt. Yet his farm of 600 acres remained, and on that he lived with his family until his death, and there he is buried. Generous and even prodigal with his own, he was never accused of an act of dishonesty. Under a guise of almost boyish fun and jocularity, he carried a thoughtful mind and sensitive pride. Though his life was not happy, he never complained, and it was only to the questions of his most intimate friends, myself among the number, that he sometimes responded with any confidence about his inner life. From what I know of that I feel justified in saying that he had an exceptionally sweet and true nature, and that his failings—for failings he had—all "leaned to virtue's side." An incident communicated to me in a letter, just received, gives a true conception of the tenderness of his disposition. The letter is written by a lady living in Hillsboro, to whom he was much attached: "He told me during his illness that because I had been so good to him he wished to clasp my hand in death. Just at 12 o'clock on the night he died, he made a sign to be raised up, not being able to speak. This we did for him, Olive (his daughter) supporting his head. He looked so wistfully at me that some one suggested that he wished to speak to me. I asked him if that was his desire, when he moved his hand over and clasped mine, then signed to be laid back again. At 1 o'clock he was dead, passing quietly away."

Thus died a man whose natural qualities fitted him to love and be loved by men and women of the higher order, but who passed his life only in sight of the promised land of happiness and eminence, destined never to enter in.

Recently, Mrs. Fremont has communicated to the N. Y. Tribune her recollections of Kit Carson, and her appreciation of him as a man. Meek was a comrade of Carson's, and was with him in many an Indian battle and starving march. They were together in Washington in 1848, where they talked over their adventures in the mountains. Though differing greatly in temperament and in physique, both possessed those simple and loyal qualities of heart that with naturally able minds made them best beloved by those who knew them best. They were distinguished representatives of a class of men that have nearly ceased to exist, with the circumstances that called them forth: and it is fitting that the people of the country which they explored and pioneered should "do them reverence."

Wheat and Tonnage.

The advance in wheat during the past two weeks has made a great difference in the financial condition of our farmers, and it is fortunate for them it occurred so early in the season. Although we believe but few have contracted their surplus of the new crop, the advance coming just in the beginning of the harvest will enable them to take the most possible advantage of it. The California producers—some of them—sold their wheat in San Francisco, about the 10th inst., at $1 60 and thought they made a good bargain; and that certainly was the average opinion. Since then radical changes have come over the crop prospects elsewhere. The yield in the Atlantic States, it is now claimed, will not be over 65 per cent. of an average. Floods and unfavorable weather in France, England and Germany have effected much damage to the growing grain in those countries, and the result is seen in the sharp advance in prices and the unparalleled activity which has prevailed in the selling marts of the world. It is possible that the rise in values has been too rapid to hold, and a portion of it is doubtless the result of speculative ventures. It is often the case that bad news travels faster than good news, and later reports may modify the condition of the markets. At the same time it should be remembered that the unfavorable news comes from buying countries, and the operators there would not unnecessarily prejudice their case. It should also be borne in mind that the English wheat market is considerably lower than it was at this date last year, and hence there is room for a still further advance.

Another item of no little moment is the decreased cost of bagging. The difference on each bag is at least 4c, which, for the whole crop will amount to no small sum. This item is assured, since the bags are here and many of them are already in the hands of farmers. There is also the assurance of a large saving in the cost of transportation, in which growers have an indirect benefit, since it enables exporters to pay more for wheat.

In reference to the tonnage supply the San Francisco Bulletin of last Saturday says:

"Ship-owners are beginning to feel a little uneasy at the situation. There is upwards of 70,000 tons of disengaged tonnage now riding at anchor in harbor, besides 20,000 tons under engagement; and the condition of the wheat market is such that exporters hesitate about taking vessels, and owners do not like to lay their vessels on and take the chances of getting a cargo. The fleet en route and loading for this port is quite large, representing at least 250,000 tons of tonnage, thus showing 290,000 tons in sight, almost enough to carry us through the year, provided no other vessels were subsequently dispatched to this port. In view of these circumstances, owners of vessels now lying idle here are looking in every direction for business, and are not disposed to cavil at any reasonable offer. A ship that has been here seven months waiting for something to turn up, has taken a guano charter during the past week, and two or three others have been sent off for lumber."

There are as yet but few ships chartered to load from this coast for Europe, if we compare the number with those under that kind of engagement at a corresponding period in former years; but the vessels are on their way to the various Pacific coast ports, and their presence here in large numbers, seeking cargoes, insures at least moderate rates for freight during the season.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—Advices from San Francisco indicate a weakening in that market and ours is in sympathy, declining quotations being furnished to-day at $1 75 ℘ cental. Transactions are very rare in the local market, exporters fearing a decline and holders hoping for a still further advance.

FLOUR—The price current in our local market is doubtless rather below the proportionate rates at which wheat can be purchased, and shows no tendency to decline, but is firm at $6 ℘ bbl for standard extras, $5 50 for outside and country brands, and $5 for superfine.

OATS—But few lots are now reaching this market, and all are about taken to supply the local demand. Current quotations are 65a70c ℘ bushel, with chances for a decline of 2 or 3c for prime lots.

HAY—A full supply in the market, quotable at $10@11 ℘ ton for fair to best timothy, loose, and $11 baled.

POTATOES—The market is in fair supply at 75c@$1 ℘ bushel.

ONIONS—There are but few lots in the market, quotable at 2½c ℘ lb, nominally.

APPLES, DRIED—The demand is hardly so active, and receipts have somewhat fallen off. The out-going steamer to-day carried none. Quotations are nominal at 7½@8c ℘ lb.

BACON—There is an improved demand in the local market, and, without any advance in quotations, sales are freer, at 11½@12c ℘ lb for sides, 11@12c for hams, and 8a9c for shoulders.

EGGS—There is an active demand for fresh laid, and a decline in the volume of receipts. The market is firm at 30c ℘ doz, though shippers not willing to pay over 27c.

LARD—Good Oregon made is worth 16c ℘ lb in kegs or tins, and is in brisk demand.

BUTTER—We quote fair to choice roll at 22a25 ℘ lb; extra print for table use, 30@35c; common solid, 18@20c.

CHICKENS—The market is in liberal supply; quotations for full grown $4 25@4 50 per dozen; spring, $2 50@2 75.

BEEF CATTLE—Some very fine arrivals have been noticed during the week, and the market is supplied with an excellent stock. Slaughterers' prices are $3 75@4 25 per cwt. neat, or $1 75@2 50 on foot.

MUTTON SHEEP—The demand is light at $2a2 75 per head.

DRESSED HOGS—There is some inquiry for the local trade at 6¼@6¾c ℘ lb.

HIDES AND FURS—Prices for hides are still down, on account of the many damaged lots reaching the market. Undamaged are quoted at 15c ℘ lb for dry beef hides 6c for green; culls, 8a10c, elk, 18a20c, ℘ lb; deer, 18a32c ℘ lb, dried, and 50a75c a piece, green; mink skins each $1 5[illegible]; otter, $4a5; beaver, 75ca$1.

WOOL—The receipts so far during the week have been much less than for the corresponding days of last week. Buyers have about gathered up all choice lots on the market which were offered at current rates, and, in the absence of encouraging advices from abroad, are doing but little. Quotations are nominally unchanged.

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Erysipelas, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel all other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed and of great benefit they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

FOR THE SPEEDY RELIEF OF

Fever and Agne, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons,

℞ Has been widely used during the last twenty-five years, in the treatment of these distressing diseases, and with such unvarying success that it has gained the reputation of being infallible. The shakes, or chills, once broken by it, do not return, until the disease is contracted again. This has made it an accepted remedy, and trusted specific, for the Fever and Ague of the West, and the Chills and Fever of the South.

Ayer's Ague Cure eradicates the noxious poison from the system, and leaves the patient as well as before the attack. It thoroughly expels the disease, so that no Liver Complaints, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Dysentery or Debility follow the cure. Indeed, where Disorders of the Liver and Bowels have occurred from Miasmatic Poison, it removes the cause of them and they disappear. Not only is it an effectual cure, but if taken occasionally by patients exposed to malaria it will expel the poison and protect them from attack. Travelers and temporary residents in Fever and Ague localities are thus enabled to defy the disease. The General Debility which is so apt to ensue from continued exposure to Malaria and Miasm, has no speedier remedy.

For Liver Complaints, it is an excellent remedy.
